Business Information

PowersGroup is the answer for many closely and privately-held companies that seek in-depth solutions through long-term relationships. Locally-owned, we integrate hands-on expertise with vast market capabilities.

PowersGroup is an independent member of SIAA, a $5.1 billion international insurance alliance. If you think we are the "right fit", please call Tim Powers at 314.333.4922.

Personal Information

Throughout his career, Tim has been dedicated to offering his clients first class service. Tim's experience is varied, from starting several successful businesses since his youth to working with one of the largest and most prosperous companies in the United States. He enjoys working with individuals and business owners, specifically in the St. Louis area, to assist them in insurance planning and achieving their personal and business insurance goals. Tim continually builds his business around trust and strong relationships. Tim believes in, above all else, honesty and excellence in customer service.

Education is a priority for Tim. During his insurance career, he has earned the designation of Commercial Lines Coverage Specialist (CLCS) and has additional designations on the horizon. To better serve his customers, Tim continually seeks additional knowledge and self-improvement through mentorship and many hours of schooling each year.

Tim is very dedicated to the community. He enjoys volunteering with the United Way, St Louis U High, Loyola University and several other member organizations.
