Dave's almost 40 years of experience in the printing and graphic arts industry comes from many viewpoints. He's been with REPCO for over 19 years in new business development and determining client needs. Prior to that he spent 15 years in production working in the darkroom, on large sheet-fed and web presses, as an estimator and as a production coordinator. For a number of years he was the commercial printing buyer for a multi-million dollar national company headquartered in St. Louis. Dave utilizes this well-rounded experience to help and advise his clients with their projects.

REPCO's capabilities include: Commercial printing (conventional and digital), graphic design, photography, bindery & finishing, logo merchandise & sales promotions, mailing, fulfillment & warehousing, logistics & distribution, web-based ordering & tracking and more.

REPCO specializes in the execution of full-service marketing, sales and communications programs. A solid, 40-year progressive company, REPCO is widely recognized as an industry leader, experienced in assisting customers with their project needs – from large comprehensive, multi-phase projects to the smallest details in many areas. REPCO provides a single source for the services and products our customer's marketing, sales and communication efforts require. REPCO will adapt to meet your needs.

Dave enjoys the MAC for lunch, dinner and business meetings, as well as with his wife Diane enjoying the MAC/Fox Series and dances. He is a member of the Business Development Group, Stogie Club and frequents the 5th floor at the downtown MAC.
